Indiana Department of Revenue Named Top Workplace by IndyStar
DOR recognized for fourth consecutive year

INDIANAPOLIS – On Sunday, May 15, 2022, the IndyStar announced its 2022 top workplace award winners. The Indiana Department of Revenue was included on that prestigious list for the fourth consecutive year in the large company category. Coupled with two consecutive USA Top Workplace awards, this is the sixth employee engagement award received by the DOR team in the last four years.

This recognition is based on voluntary and anonymous feedback from DOR employees and is determined by benchmarking DOR's results against similar size organizations that invest in culture, organizational health, and employee engagement.

“All organizations are a collection of people who bring their diverse and unique backgrounds and talents to the mission of the organization. When an organization is blessed to have a team that is passionate about who they are, what they do, and who they serve – and maybe more importantly, about their work environment and each other – you have something very special,” shared Commissioner Bob Grennes.

“The men and women of the Department of Revenue pour themselves into the important work we do every day to serve Indiana and the Hoosiers that count on us. These wonderful Hoosiers have made DOR a very special place, and we are extremely proud to be recognized again as a top workplace by IndyStar and Energage®.”
