

HEALTH AND SAFETY TRAINING APPROVED OPTIONS LIST

As part of the federal Child Care and Development Block Grant Act 2014, states must require health and safety pre-service or orientation training for all eligible CCDF providers. The new law requires documentation of training in 10 specific health and safety topic areas as well as highly recommends training in Child Development. The intent of the training is to support basic health and safety standards designed to prevent harm to children.

The Office of Early Childhood and Out of School Learning (OECOSL) developed the following list of approved training options to guide you in meeting the new health and safety orientation training requirements. The list is organized by the required health and safety topic areas. Some training, such as a CDA Credential or the new Introduction to the Early Childhood and Out of School Learning Profession modules, will apply toward multiple topics. Prior training may be approved if there is adequate documentation of the training. Documentation of meeting the training topic areas must be maintained in your staff training files.

This list will be updated as additional trainings are identified and approved.
